3rd April 2025

Dear Parent,

I am delighted that you have chosen Wimbledon High School for your daughter's education and want to take this opportunity to welcome you to the Girls' Day School Trust, at the start of what promises to be an exciting new chapter in her life. Our mission of helping girls learn without limits, so that they go on to lead lives without limits, brings incredible opportunities for innovation and excellence.

I am writing with details of the fees at school for the academic year 2025/2026 at Wimbledon High School.

Delivering an irresistible education alongside value for money continues to be our priority amidst an unprecedented time of financial change for parents investing in independent education, following the introduction of VAT on fees in January. Additionally, the GDST faces increasing costs from April onwards with the removal of business rates relief and an increase in employer National Insurance contributions.

Being a family of high-performing schools provides us with the resilience to manage external pressures and minimise the financial impact of these changes by applying the benefits of our size and scale to keep fees as affordable as we possibly can. We were pleased that in January 2025, Telegraph Money recognised GDST schools as among the best value for money based on academic achievements and fees.

Our schools work tirelessly to ensure that your decision to invest in a GDST education provides your daughter with the very best, both in and out of the classroom, with the ambition of supporting her to reach her full potential. As a not-for-profit organisation, we reinvest all income and fees received into the educational experience provided by our schools. Our latest global research paper, the GDST Insights Report and Framework: Designing the Future of Girls' Education, emphasises the importance of creating learning environments where the needs of girls come first, providing learning experiences that build confident, happy and fearless young women.

We are grateful for your commitment to your daughter's education at Wimbledon High School. We recognise the significant financial commitment and sacrifice many families make to send their daughters to one of our schools. We look forward to the start of our partnership with you, as parents and guardians, in the coming academic year.
